

Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI) Handling Statement

SV Microwave recognizes the importance of protecting Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI) entrusted to us by our customers, partners, and government agencies. We are committed to safeguarding CUI in accordance with applicable U.S. Government requirements, customer contractual obligations, and industry best practices. Our information protection program is designed to support the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of controlled information throughout its lifecycle.

SV Microwave implements administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to protect CUI from unauthorized access, use, disclosure, alteration, or destruction.

Our information security program includes measures designed to support:

- Controlled access to CUI
- Protection of electronic and physical information
- Secure transmission and storage of controlled information
- Personnel security awareness and training
- Incident reporting and response
- Configuration and change management
- Risk management and continuous improvement

Where contractually required, SV Microwave supports compliance with applicable requirements, including:

- National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Special Publication 800-171
- Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) cybersecurity requirements
- Controlled Unclassified Information Program requirements
- Applicable customer security requirements

Compliance obligations vary by contract, customer, and information type.

Access to Controlled Unclassified Information is limited to authorized personnel with a legitimate business need and is managed in accordance with applicable contractual, regulatory, and internal security requirements.

CUI is handled using approved methods and systems appropriate for the information being processed. The transmission, storage, reproduction, and disposal of controlled information are performed in accordance with applicable contractual and regulatory requirements.

Customers are encouraged to:

- Clearly identify Controlled Unclassified Information provided to SV Microwave.
- Include applicable contractual clauses and handling requirements in purchase orders or contracts.
- Notify SV Microwave of any customer-specific security requirements that apply to the information being provided.

Security Questions

SV Microwave can provide additional information regarding its information security program, cybersecurity practices, or CUI handling procedures as appropriate and subject to applicable confidentiality and contractual requirements.

This statement is provided for general informational purposes only and does not constitute a certification, authorization, or contractual commitment. Information handling requirements are governed by applicable contracts, laws, regulations, and customer requirements.
